

Comment on Passing Events.

By Frederic Heath

Grafting new flesh on the rotten cadaver of the Republican party lacks merit in this, that the stitches are always losing their hold and pulling out.

Thou shalt not be found out, reads the Eleventh Commandment of capitalism. This explains why Roosevelt snubbed Lorimer and effusively greeted Boss Cox, I guess.

The Progressives in politics are mostly well meaning but self-deluded fellows who spend their time trying to fit fig leaves over the naked villainy of the favorite party of capitalism.

The mayor of New Orleans was in Milwaukee recently. Among other things he told about was that New Orleans is one of the few cities owning its own belt line of railroad. Last month 17,000 cars were handled at a cost of $2 for each loaded car and nothing for empties.

A crusade has been started against fake moving picture films that show alleged destruction of property by strikers. If any such scoundrelly fakes are shown when you are at the theater hiss the bally things out of popularity and the management will soon take the cue and cease running the risk of affronting Union men by showing them.

In Austria a change in the military laws is about to be made by which army officers shall be eligible to pensions, amounting to full pay, as soon as they have served thirty-five years instead of forty, as at present. Thus are they establishing the principle for us. For if the man enlisted in the trade of man killing is entitled to full pay and his leisure after thirty-five years, so much more so is the man enlisted in the trade of man sustaining, the man enlisted in the industries.

As between Billy Lorimer, wearer of the senatorial toga by virtue of crooked ward politics, and Boss Cox, wearer of the mantle of Caesar in Ohio by virtue of crooked high finance politics, I must say I have more respect for Lorimer than for Cox, and Cox is vastly the more dangerous and corrupting of the two.

Yet the great grandstand player, Theodore L. refused to meet Lorimer because he was too crooked and their straightway flew to the bosom of Cox because he is so adroitly and SUCCESSFULLY unstraight.

There is nothing more disgusting than mawkish hero worship. Here is a painful sentence from a hysterical letter to the Milwaukee Sentinel from a Chicago man who signs himself Victor Jacobs:

"I love our only and adorable colonel and former president, Teddy Roosevelt, and while he does not know me from Adam, I can still have that love for him." The poor fellow should be given a sugar-tit and tenderly put to bed in the drooling ward.

Roosevelt is back home again, from his trip and now the old party wisecracks are trying to figure what it was all about and why it happened. That it was not disinterested is generally conceded. Ostensibly merely patriotic, it is set down as clearly selfish and artful. "The colonel's motto," the Providence Journal humorously remarks, "is still an I for an I and a tooth for a tooth." But is his heart set on merely the bossship of the Republican party, or the robes of imperialism?

The Jesuit Marquette college, Milwaukee, has started a school in journalism—think of men being given Jesuitical training for newspaper work—ye gods! Most of the countries of Europe have had to drive out the Jesuits at one time or another for the protection of the people against their intrigues and plottings, but the United States is getting peppered with them and their attempt to breed up a class of newspaper men to abet their political schemings will not be the worst of their tricks, by any means. They will bring on serious times before they are done with this country, and the people may well be uneasy with such an unscrupulous crew in their midst.

It is significant of the times that the decision of Supreme Court Justice Goff that peaceful picketing is unlawful has been severely criticised even by capitalistic newspapers. Public opinion is now so closely directed to the social significance of the struggle of organized labor for physical, moral and mental betterment that the newspapers do not quite dare to pat the class-serving "justice" on the back. It is a brutal decision, a monstrous blunder, and the papers are cute enough to see it as such.

Workingmen can have no interest in the family squabbles of the old parties. It makes no difference to them whether one Republican or another is nominated for the United States senate, or for dog-catcher. The important thing for Social-Democrats this year is to prove their ability to organize a strong, compact political machine, which shall be ready and capable of taking charge of the administration of public affairs just as soon as we convince enough voters that they want what we want.

We are not running for office. We are fighting for Socialism!

A New York woman dressed in what is known as a hobble skirt, fell down a flight of stairs and is now in the hospital. She may lose her life as the result of being an idiot. While we imagine that humanity is advancing in common sense we have the depressing and disgusting spectacle of one-half of the human family going about like geese with inverted imitation coal hods, wash baskets, bread pans and waste baskets on their heads and standing ready to put on any kind of a dampool dress the commercial fashion-makers devise, running from one ridiculous extreme to the other. It is enough to make one sick.

The Encyclopedia Britannica, which is now chiefly known in this country by a reprint on cheap paper of an out-of-date edition put out by a notorious non-union printing house, is about to be rescued from the disrepute that has come upon it. The University of Cambridge, England, is now about to publish an eleventh edition, freed from all taint of commercialism and devoted to an exposition of all that is latest in untrammeled science and human knowledge generally. It is certainly a world gain to have such a work undertaken by a university instead of a private publisher who has to count the cost of preparation.

New York has to build a new insane hospital each year to keep up with the increase in insanity.

And the abominable fact about this is that in large measure the procuring cause of insanity is the capitalist system and the lives of anxiety, overwork and demoralization that it forces upon the world. New York is no worse than other localities. In all localities where the system rules the race there is the same shameful situation.

Every man who votes an old party ticket votes his approval of this corroding system and prolongs its man-killing existence.

Tom Watson, the blatherskite editor of populist papers and magazines, and one time vice presidential candidate, who has recently been trying to blacken the morals of the Socialists, a la Thomas Dixon and scandalmongers of that stripe, is now charged by Congressman Hardwick of Georgia with having sold out to the Republicans in 1900 and to have received a large sum of money from Mark Hanna to keep the Populist party in the field to help the Republicans. A letter from Congressman Burke of South Dakota is being shown in which he, Burke, alleges that Watson met him and other Republicans in a conference at the Palmer house, Chicago, and made the alleged disreputable offer of his services for a price. It is up to Tom to give his side of the thing, it would seem.

Samuel Gompers, the A. F. of L. Jekyll and Civic Federation Mr. Hyde, metamorphosed himself for the occasion of Labor Day and wrote a nice Civic Federation editorial about Socialism being just the thing for the working class of Europe where there are hereditary kings, but not at all the thing for the workingmen of this country where there are financial kings and trust maggots—beg pardon, I mean magnates.

Sam is ingenious—and devilish sly, sir.

And of course he does not know that capitalism is INTERNATIONAL, and that Social-Democracy logically follows upon capitalism, or no!

And so are Andy Carnegie and August Belmont devilish sly, and you bet your sweet existence they approve of Sammy's proud editorial.

Sammy fills the bill, all right, from THEIR standpoint.

"It depends upon you, upon the people of America, whether you will permit a man to represent you because he has been acquitted in a court of law, or because there has been a mistrial so that enough jurors have believed in him to get him off, whether you will permit that man to represent you, or whether you will take the stand that where you have evidence of a kind which may not be legal, but which convinces every honest man of intelligence, whether you will submit to the pollution of American life by putting such a man in high official position."

The above is taken from a speech made at the Hamilton club banquet in Chicago by Roosevelt. Putting aside all question of the sincerity and motives of the speaker, we hasten to dedicate the quotation to the Milwaukee Press club, as a guide against future blunders.

The Duke of Abruzzi—dook of a brute, see!—will marry six millions of dollars next February, with a Miss Elkins thrown in, and the details, including the transfer of the millions, have all been arranged, and the papers are full of this most valuable news. The dook is a degenerate and cast off sprig of man-made nobility, and

The People's Realty Company Endorsed by the Social-Democratic Party

The new building being erected by the People's Realty company has received the endorsement of the Social-Democratic party. The Milwaukee county central committee, composed of delegates from all branches of the Social-Democratic party in Milwaukee county, unanimously adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The Social-Democratic party has reached a stage of development where it requires a permanent home of its own in which it will be independent of capitalist rent lords; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of such permanent headquarters will serve as a people's house, in which the political and industrial organization of the working class can together find shelter; and

WHEREAS, This people's house would also be a first necessary step toward the establishment of a Social-Democratic daily paper in Milwaukee; and

WHEREAS, The providing of this people's house has been undertaken by the People's Realty company of Milwaukee, consisting of members who are trustworthy Socialists; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the Milwaukee county central committee does hereby endorse the plan of Social Order and Individual Freedom

There are two currents in the stream of our civilization: one that moves towards an ever greater social order and cohesion, the other that moves towards an ever greater individual freedom.

There is real harmony underlying the apparent opposition of these two tendencies, and each is indeed the indispensable complement of the other. There can be no real freedom for the individual in the things that concern a coherent order in the things that concern him as a social unit—Havlock Ellis.

Miss Elkins is the daughter of one of the biggest robbers of labor in America, who owns all kinds of things that really belong to the people, including vast coal deposits and mines in West Virginia.

The half-starved miners struck some time ago for wages commensurate with half decent living and the American brute, Elkins, gave them bullet-rations instead, by means of the capitalist-controlled state militia, made up, do not forget, of men who swear to capitalism to shoot down their fellows on command, if only the command be given.

So you see, the mines can hand over millions of dollars to a dissolute dook, but has nothing for the men whose miserable labor brings its great wealth to the surface! Such is "civilization."

The Milwaukee newspapers' hailing of Seidel was one of the most insincere things imaginable. For Roosevelt had scarcely left town than they were picking him to pieces. Even the Free Press printed a jest to the effect that if the pope could smh Teddy so could the mayor of Milwaukee, and The Sentinel said that the Milwaukee reception to Roosevelt was "warm, but not uproarious," and also printed the following editorial, concerning the why of the Roosevelt swing around the circle:

NOT ALARMING

Now we know all about it, thanks to that crank out in Fargo. There has been much surmise as to the true inwardness of this quasipresidential tour of the colonel's. What is it all about, and what is it all for? anxiously asks the citizen.

Some say it is because of a quaint delusion on the colonel's part that he is still president; others that he is out for the nomination in 1912; others—but so it goes with the gossamer.

Our own impression was that the colonel is doing it mainly because it is the sort of thing he likes to do. But when that crank in Fargo jumped on the platform and wanted to know who is promoting and paying the freight on this quasipresidential swing round the circle, the colonel declared that the Outlook is doing it.

An Outlook boom, after all; so persons troubled by the specter of Caesarism may take heart.

The Outlook has its own answer to the old question, "What shall we do with our ex-presidents?" It hires the only living specimen for its editorial staff, and then ships him round the country to boom circulation. Dignity be hanged! The colonel draws an enormous salary, and the Outlook needs the money. Now is the time to subscribe.

So it all goes to show how superficial and artificial was the anti-Seidel spasm. It was simply an ebullition of cycophancy that died out along with the straw fire under it. The plucky mayor emerges smiling from the incident, with his host of admirers decidedly increased.

Whitelaw Reid, ambassador to the court of St. James, who has long been an expatriated American so far as mental outlook is concerned, will remain in London, it is announced, after his term of office expires during the next season.

So far as this country is concerned it is good riddance to bad rubbish, for Reid has been a snob and a disgusting aristocrat for years, being a traitor to all the fondest traditions of 1776.

This lavish entertainment to royalty, snobocracy and syphilitic nobility as the American representative, and his eringing before the British throne in silk knee breeches, reflects the real Reid, the former newspaper man and editor, who in past years dilated on the democratic simplicity of the American nation as its proudest legacy from the patriots of Revolutionary days.

An avenging providence would take such a specimen by the scruff of the neck, give him a suit of overalls and a tin dinner pail and send him out to earn his living by the sweat of his own brow.

But he will doubtless be spared to live out his allotted days as a parasite upon the rest of humanity, and an ignoble parasite at that.

Eighth International Socialist Congress

We had hoped to be able to present something from our own correspondent as to the international Socialist congress at Copenhagen by this issue, but the matter has not arrived up to time of going to press. In lieu thereof, however, we will have to have recourse to a report of the opening of the great gathering that Bruce Glasier has contributed to the current issue of the London Labor Leader, which is just to hand. All that is known by the American Socialists thus far of the congress is what has appeared meagerly in the capitalist press, and which on the face of it has been utterly unreliable and has indicated an effort to find something sensational in the proceedings, or to distort various incidents so as to make them "worth" the expense of cabling. The congress closed its sessions last week and it is expected that the American delegates will be back on our shores within a very short time.

The meeting place of the congress, Mr. Glasier writes from Copenhagen, was the Knight's hall of the Concert palace, a splendid municipal edifice. The hall itself is large and admirably suited for conference meetings, but in this instance its capacity has proved quite inadequate for the accommodation of so large a number of delegates. Not only is every inch of the floor of the hall occupied by delegates crammed on either side of the long tables, but provision has had to be made in the gallery for the overflowing numbers. The hall is decorated with finely designed banners, and the alcove of the platform is illuminated with a large emblematical design of the two hemispheres of the world encircled with the motto in Danish—"Wage workers of the world, unite!" There are over a thousand delegates present, some of whom come from such far-away lands as Australia, India, Japan and Argentina. The British section consists of about eighty delegates.

Copenhagen

Copenhagen is in many respects the most prosperous city in Europe, though its population is less than that of Glasgow, Manchester or Liverpool. The abundance of its squares, open spaces, and wide streets, and the general air of comfort of its working class are very noticeable. In no other capital town in Europe that I have visited have I been so much impressed with the absence of affronting social inequality among its people. Nowhere have I seen so few palatial mansions and so few slums. There are doubtless many poor people and many rich people, too, in Copenhagen, but one sees neither the flaunting display of arrogant wealth nor the depressing evidences of misery that one meets with in London, Paris, Berlin, Brussels, Amsterdam, or Rome.

The congress proceedings were inaugurated by a magnificent musical ceremony. A cantata, specially written and composed for the occasion, was rendered with truly superb effect by a male voice choir and hand, every member of which is a Socialist. The cantata consisted of a Socialist theme wrought into a series of national symphonies, and when the "German Worker's Hymn," the "Marseillaise," and the "International" rang through the hall, the enthusiasm was extraordinary. The whole audience rose to their feet as the "International" was being sung, and in response to their acclamation the song was repeated.

Welcomed to Denmark

During an interval in the cantata, Dr. Bang, a member of the Danish parliament, welcomed the delegates to Copenhagen in a brief speech. He pointed out that the congress was being held in the west end of the city, the most aristocratic quarter, the district in which the king had his palace, and that it was represented by a Socialist parliament.

As soon as the choir vacated the platform, Vandervelde, as president of the International Bureau, took the chair, supported by the members of the bureau.

Vandervelde formally declared the congress open, saying he would waive his right of speech to his Danish comrade, Stanning, who once again heartily welcomed the congress and said that Danish Socialists were proud of the honor of extending hospitality to the representatives of the Socialist movement in all lands. Denmark, though a small country, was nevertheless one of the most advanced in the practical application of Socialist principles.

Vandervelde's Address

As it turned out, Vandervelde's re-nunciation of his right to deliver an opening address was only a temporary one, for as soon as Stanning's speech had been translated he rose, and under cover of expressing thanks to the Danish Socialists for their welcome, was immediately in full flight with an oration of his own. It proved, however, to be a highly interesting and exceedingly eloquent deliverance, for Vandervelde is one of the great speakers as well as clearest thinkers among the leaders of the Socialist movement in Europe.

In the course of his address he reviewed the progress of Socialism at home and abroad. Instancing the remarkable success of the movement in Denmark, he declared that the basis of its achievement lay in the unity of the forces of trade union and Socialism. He concluded by paying a warm tribute to our German comrades, Singer and Bebel, who were both unable to be present owing to illness.

The opening proceedings were brought to a conclusion with a series of announcements by Huysmans, the secretary.

Tomorrow (Monday) the national sections will meet and appoint representatives to the various committees, who are charged with the task of considering the resolutions and bringing in a report upon them to the congress, which will reassemble on Wednesday.

Copenhagen En Fete

In celebration of the congress visit, a great procession and demonstration took place this afternoon. No such display of popular interest and enthusiasm has welcomed the congress on any previous occasion. Some 20,000 trade unionists marched with bands and banners through the streets to the public park in which the demonstration was held. Perhaps the most striking feature of the procession was the remarkable friendliness and enthusiasm with which the processionists were greeted everywhere on their way. Red flags and floral emblems were displayed from the houses, and roses were flung by girls from the windows.

It seemed as if literally half the town had turned out to take part in the celebration. The public park overflowed with people who wore Socialist badges. There were five platforms round which immense crowds listened to and applauded the speeches. Hardie and MacDonald were our British spokesmen, and Janes, Vandervelde, Molkenbahr, Dr. Adler, Roobanovich, Troelstra, Von Kol, and a host of other international speakers delivered rousing orations. Later on the grounds were beautifully illuminated, and the festival ended with a great fireworks display.

Denmark has been described as a "Commonwealth ruled by farmers." In many respects it may be considered, the most highly collectivist and best educated state in Europe. Literacy and destitution are practically nonexistent in the country. There is almost no aristocracy; the ruling class consists of the small farmers who possess from forty to sixty acres of land.

Peasant Proprietorship

Practically the whole of the land is owned by cultivating farmers. Tenant holdings are almost unknown. There are in all some 250,000 farms, with a cultivated area of ten million acres. As the total population is only a little over 2 1/2 millions, of whom only about half a million are heads of families, it will be seen that one-half of the whole population are engaged in agriculture. Of the 250,000 farms, only about 8,000 consist of above 150 acres each; 175,000 consist of less than 40 acres holdings.

Co-operation

The Danish farmer, we are told, "gets all he produces—absolutely all," that is to say on the present commercial basis of exchange value. He has completely abolished not merely the "idle landlord," but the "indispensable middleman," and by means of state-owned railways, he is protected from exploitation. This is the only form of protection which exists in Denmark, for the Dane—farmer and artisan alike—is a free trader.

State Enterprise

The state not only owns and runs the railways, but in co-operation with the farmers' societies selects markets, provides stock, loans money, sends round inspectors, sets up agricultural and technical schools, experimental farms, and in countless ways co-operates with the farmers in promoting their own well-being and developing the resources of the country.

Copenhagen Municipality

Considering the striking development of collectivist enterprise in Denmark, it is not surprising that in Copenhagen the capital city, Socialism

Lively Clash in Council Chamber

Milwaukee: Again the threatened censure of the chief of police, John T. Janssen, by the common council has been prolonged by parliamentary tactics. At Monday's meeting Ald. Corcoran (D.) after an acrimonious debate, and after other sidetracking tactics had failed, gave notice of reconsideration on a vote on an amendment he had offered, and so tied up the main resolution for two more weeks. The resolution reprimands the chief for his open hostility to the Socialist measure to give the policemen a day off every two weeks and especially for depriving the men of their off during the Pythian encampment while there were extra men who could be drawn on.

Four ordinances were passed. One provided for the annexation of a square mile of the town of Milwaukee, between Seventeenth and Twenty-seventh streets and Keefe avenue, to the Twentieth ward. The others provide for cleaner street cars, lifting jacks on all cars and a speed limit of four miles at curves and of fifteen miles on grade.

The following measures were advanced to engrossment. Fixing the salary of John McGucken, deputy commissioner of public works, at $2,000; prohibiting females other than members of the immediate household from acting as bartenders; placing the blame for selling liquor to minors on bartenders, as well as on proprietors; making two years' residence in the county instead of one in the city eligible for taking out a license; regulating the erection of stables and providing for rendering of certain animals in the city.

local "criminals," by which it is expected to relieve the overcrowding of the house of correction and prevent the brutalizing of many persons convicted of infractions of mere municipal ordinances. It is expected to reduce the number of prisoners by one-half, and will fit in well with the relocation of the house of correction on a farm and quarry site north of the city, which is now temporarily tied up

Begin Zone System in Milwaukee

Milwaukee: Three things of importance developed at Tuesday's meeting of the county board of supervisors. The purchase of a large tract of land for the new agricultural school which the state will establish in Milwaukee county was authorized, as was also the purchase of a tract of hillside woodland for a new county park and, thirdly, a move was started for the establishment of a parole system for

The Record of Roosevelt

(Written for The Herald.)

WHEN the record of Theodore Roosevelt as shown in his public acts becomes known to the people of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt will cease to be the idol of the thoughtless and the well-meaning.

The case against Roosevelt is strong and clear. Any person who will follow his record, the bills that he has signed, the measures that he has worked for, the kind of politicians he has worked with and has supported, the governmental deals with which he has been connected, will be compelled to admit that Theodore Roosevelt has been closely connected with crooked business and crooked politics.

The record of Roosevelt can be shown in full, with facts, dates, names and proofs, that are thoroughly convincing. This exposure of Roosevelt is not an attack on the man. It is an explanation and an analysis of Rooseveltism. Rooseveltism is a bigger and a more important issue in this country today than "Cannons" or "Aldrichism."

And it is fitting that the Social Democrats should undertake this work. One of the Milwaukee papers stated the case quite accurately when it said, "There are Roosevelt Republicans and Roosevelt Democrats, but there are no Roosevelt Socialists."

There follows here a brief outline of part of the record of Roosevelt. This, of course, is merely skimming the surface. But from time to time, if necessary, The Herald will present the proofs and the evidence back of these deals.

trusts," and Elbert H. Gary, president of the United States Steel company, has in public speeches at banquets, pronounced Roosevelt to be a man in whose hands the country and the business interests are SAFE. These speeches are at hand to verify this charge.

6-Roosevelt has said, "The alliance between crooked business and crooked politics must be destroyed." Yet he once wrote a letter to Congressman McKinley of Illinois in which he gave high praise to Speaker Joseph Cannon, and he, Roosevelt, has worked hand in glove with Senator Aldrich, the best known representative of "crooked business" in the United States senate.

7-Roosevelt signed the Aldrich-Vreeland bill and influenced the passage of the bill. This is the bill that Senator La Follette filibustered against, speaking for eighteen hours against it. The bill made railway securities a basis for issuing bank currency and was a clear grant to the national banks of the use of $500,000,000.

8-Roosevelt signed a bill while governor of New York authorizing savings bank investments to be made in securities of the Chicago and Alton railway, later reported by the interstate commerce commission to be overcapitalized, underequipped, frenziedly financed, and totally worthless to be classified with substantial properties in which savings bank funds were to be invested. Roosevelt first authorized deals, but now admits that he signed this bill.

9-Roosevelt dictated the nomination and election to the presidency of William H. Taft, an Ohio judge, with one of the worst anti-labor records known in labor history. Taft has been called "the father of government by injunction." His nomination and election would have been impossible without the backing of Roosevelt. He was picked by Roosevelt and supported by Roosevelt.

10-Roosevelt threw his influence against the unionizing of the employees in the government printing shops at Washington and the establishment of the union shop.

11-Roosevelt, while president, branded the labor leaders Moyer and Haywood as "undesirable citizens" at a time when those men were under a charge from which they were afterwards cleared. This epithet at the particular time it was uttered undoubtedly had the effect of shaping a sentiment against the imprisoned miners, who despite the influence of the nation's chief executive, were acquitted of the charges against them, escaping the coils of one of the most detestable and at the same time colossal capitalist conspiracies ever framed up to paralyze a labor union.

12-Roosevelt claims to have shot a man in the back at Kettle Hill, in the so-called battle of San Juan, Cuba. That Roosevelt did this and that he did it out of sheer brutality and not to defend himself is explained by Roosevelt himself in his book, "The Rough Riders," page 439.

Finally, these are but part of the indictments that can be brought against Roosevelt. Convincing details on the record of this man ready for publication should these statements be questioned, not with any belief that Roosevelt is any worse morally and politically than most of the men with whom he has associated, but for the purpose of pointing out fully and clearly the actions of a dangerous man who will have to be understood before we can have a cleaner and better civilization.

Plute Piques Grafter

Chicago Daily Socialist: Roosevelt piqued Lorimer last night, refusing to sit with him at the Hamilton club banquet.

Of course Lorimer is not the whitest in the world, but, according to Republican standards, he is innocent of the charges of bribery until proven guilty.

Roosevelt pronounces the verdict of guilty right away—just as he did in the case of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone. Why should there be any need of courts and judges and juries as long as Roosevelt is in the land?

But now, supposing Lorimer bought his seat in the United States senate, which he very likely did, or, rather, the interests brought it for him, as they needed him for a tool, why should that bother Roosevelt?

For if there is any difference between Lorimer and Roosevelt as far as decency is concerned, Lorimer has a great advantage.

Those big $50,000 checks from the insurance companies, and those bags of slush campaign money that the railroads and other interests handed over to Roosevelt make Lorimer's jackpots look like seven cents.

To mention Roosevelt's Alton steal, his brute nature in shooting Spaniards in the back, his beast character in killing female monkeys and gloating over their cuteness in their endeavor to keep the blood from oozing out of their pierced breasts, his general snub-animal make-up would be to make Lorimer look like an angel in unspotted raiment beside him.

Lorimer is debauched and degraded by the interests. Roosevelt is debauched and degraded by the interests and his own brutal self.

Jolts for Both Sides—By Henry T. Jones

A man is known by the company he keeps. Right, Roosevelt's four companions are Philander Knox, corporation lawyer and the United States Steel trust's representative in the White House cabinet; Senator Elihu Root, the greatest legal corporation trickster that ever lived; J. Pierpont Morgan, who is so notorious that further explanation is unnecessary; E. H. Gary, managing director of the steel trust, who was on the reception committee to welcome the rough rider home; Paul Morton, labor union destroyer, who graduated from Roosevelt's cabinet to a $100,000 a year job as president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society; John Mitchell, ex-miner, who has betrayed labor by accepting a well-paid position in the office of the Civic Federation, famous for its efforts to prevent labor organizations from gaining better working conditions, and other creatures of capitalism. Too numerous to speak about. And we might add La Follette to the list. Oh yes, a man is known by the company he keeps.

Roosevelt is the biggest known bunch of egotism that has existed since the time of Caesar. He is the biggest haggard and hypocrite America has ever known. He boasts about what he might do to the criminal corporations and when in the White House he permitted the steel trust to crush out its only dangerous rival—the Tennessee Coal & Iron Co. Gary and Frick called at the White House in 1907 and Roosevelt, over his own signature, sanctified the most brutal piece of commercial assassination that ever took place, and by so doing the Morgan-Standard Oil crowd cleaned up $500,000,000. Yes, we can safely trust Roosevelt to "cinch the crooks."

His past performances show what kind of a crook cincher he might be.

Socialism is the New Patriotism

HUMAN life depends upon food, clothing and shelter. Only when these are assured are freedom, culture and higher human development possible. To produce food, clothing and shelter, the land must be developed. Land by itself does not satisfy human needs. Human labor gets raw materials and food, and of the most cruel machinery and using it upon the land. Whoever has control of land and machinery has control of human labor, and with it of human life and liberty. The land and the machinery are the tools of industrial purposes. So long as machinery is simple and easily handled by one man, it does not make its owners so powerful that they can dominate the sources of life of others. But when machinery becomes more and more complex and expensive, and requires for its effective operation the organized effort of many workers, its owners reach over wider circles of life. The owners of such machinery become the dominant class.

THE MASSES IN SUBJECTION.

To proportion of the number of such machine owners compared to all other classes decreases, their power in the nation and in the world increases. They bring over larger masses of working people under their control, compelling them to the point where muscle and brain are their only productive property. Millions of farmers sell their produce to the owners of the railways and the owners of such machinery become the dominant class.

The more the economic power of the ruling class grows, the less useful does it become to the life of the nation. The overwhelming bulk of the useful work of the nation falls upon the shoulders of the class that either have no other productive property but their manual and mental labor power, the wage workers—or they have but little land and machinery outside of their labor power—the small traders and small farmers. The ruling authority is steadily becoming useless and parasitic.

A bitter struggle over the division of the products of labor is waged between the existing property class on the one hand and the exploited, propertyless class on the other. In this struggle the wage working class must expect from any reform or amelioration of the present order from the dominant class of society.

The wage workers are therefore the most oppressed and irreconcilable antagonists of the ruling class. They are also the class which suffers most from the cause of class struggle.

The fact that a small number of capitalists is permitted to monopolize the sources and social tools for their individual profit, and to make the production of the necessities of life and the production of competitive private enterprises and speculations, is at the bottom of all the social evils of the present order.

MODERN INDUSTRY PLANLESS.

To spite of the organization of trusts, pools and combinations, the capitalists are powerless to regulate production for social ends. Industry is regulated and controlled in a planless manner. Through periods of feverish activity the strength and health of the workers are mercilessly undermined, and during periods of enforced idleness the workers are frequently reduced to starvation.

The classness of this chaotic system of production is the source of all the social ills, depressions and crises which paralyze the nation every fifteen or twenty years.

In its mad and reckless race for profits the capitalist class is bound to exploit the workers to the very limit of their endurance and to sacrifice their physical, mental and moral welfare to its own insatiable greed. Capitalism keeps the masses of mankind in poverty, destitution, physical exhaustion and ignorance. It drives millions of workers into the mill and factory. It makes their children crawl from the playground and schools and grinds their slender bodies and burned minds into cold dollars. It wastes and disfigures, maims and kills hundreds of thousands of working men annually in mines, railroads and in factories. It drives millions of workers into the ranks of the unemployed and forces large numbers of them into beggary, vagrancy and all forms of crime and vice.

PUBLIC INTELLIGENCE CORRUPTED.

To maintain their rule over their fellow-men, the capitalists must keep in their pay all organs of the public press, public mind and public conscience. They control the dominating parties and, through them, the elected public officials. They select our executives, judges and legislators. They control our courts of justice. They own and control the press. They sway our educational institutions. They control the nation politically and intellectually just as they own it industrially.

The struggle between wage workers and capitalists is therefore the struggle between the only vital force before the American people. The wage working class, therefore, has the most vital and direct interest in abolishing the capitalist system. But in abolishing the present system the workers will free not only their own class, but also all other classes of modern society. The small farmer, who is today exploited by large capitalist monopolies, is indirectly but not less effectively than the wage laborer; the small manufacturer and trader, who is engaged in a desperate and losing struggle for economic independence in the face of the all-conquering power of concentrated capital; and even the capitalist himself, who is today engaged in a desperate and losing struggle for economic independence in the face of the all-conquering power of concentrated capital, will find that the struggle for the abolition of all classes and class privileges is the only way to their own liberation.

MUST CONQUER THE POLITICAL.

The private ownership of the land and means of production used for exploitation, the rule upon which class rule is built; political government in its indispensable instrument. The wage workers cannot be freed from exploitation without conquering the political power and abolishing the capitalist system and democratic administration for private ownership of the land and the means of production.

The basis for such transformation is rapidly developing within the very bosom of present capitalism. The modern system, with its machine and machinery, and its division of labor, is rapidly destroying all vestiges of individual production in manufacture. Modern production is already very largely a collective and social process, while the great trusts and monopolies which have sprung up in recent years have the effect of organizing the work and management of some of our industries on a national scale, and thusing them for nationalization.

AN END TO CLASS RULE.

In the struggle for freedom the interests of the workers of all nations are identical. The struggle is not only national, but international. It embraces the world and will be carried to ultimate victory by the united workers of all nations.

To unite the workers of the nation and their allies and sympathizers of all other classes to this end, is the mission of the Socialists. In this battle for freedom the Socialists must not strive to substitute working class rule for capitalist rule, but by working class victory to free all humanity from class rule and to realize the international brotherhood of man.

Roosevelt did not refuse to eat with the unspeakable Busse. Had he been sincere, Busse would be the last man to dine with. But Busse is a Roosevelt man.

What a farce this capitalist morality is after all!

How could Mayor Seidel do anything but decline to come near this perversion of a man?

The pathetic part of the whole affair is that the people are being fooled by the capitalist press into thinking that Roosevelt is a great man.

The Carnegie Way

In Carnegie's "Problems of Today" the author says: "In Britain 600,000 leisure class persons own twelve times as much wealth as 38,220,000 working class persons own."

Andrew Carnegie's workmen made armor plate for him for less than $100 a ton and the steel magnate sold it to the United States for $750 a ton. Then Andrew sold to the Morgan crowd his steel trust property that cost him about $56,000,000 to acquire for $400,000,000. If such opportunities were permitted to exist in the United States very long a leisure class of a few thousand would own twelve times as much as 90,000,000 working class persons.

But as far back as 1886 Carnegie said: "There is no doubt that it is becoming harder and harder, as business gravitates to immense corners, for a young man without capital to get a start for himself, and in this city (Pittsburg) especially, where large capital is essential, it is unusually difficult."

So if you have any hopes of becoming a trust magnate without capital, accept Carnegie's testimony as truthful in this case, and forget it.

Some Darrow Shafts

Mr. Darrow began his Labor day speech in St. Louis by stating that he was a member of the "oldest and most honorable union in the world, the lawyers' union." He said the reason he never worked was because he did not have to, and the reason why his working day was so short was because of the strength of his union. Later on in his speech he stated that the laws of the country were made only by lawyers and others who were hostile to the laboring classes, and until the workmen put plumbers and carpenters into power they would always suffer. His speech was pregnant with sarcasm regarding lawyers in general, and he denounced the existing laws as being void of justice in many cases and entirely unintelligible in many others.

The reason we urge the working class to think is because the capitalists are not doing any thinking worth talking about.

The majority of the people of the country are workers and the majority class should be represented in the legislative and judicial departments. Strange isn't it, that the minority should rule?

Bankers and other capitalists, and the idle rich own nearly everything, and yet they never produced anything. Think that over about three months and if you think it is right, you are a fit subject for a mental specialist.

Any man or woman sufficiently sane to be at large, who declares that Socialism is wrong after hearing a lucid explanation of the subject, is both morally and mentally defective. I say this advisedly because it is only the morally and mentally deficient who cannot appreciate the great truth of Socialism.

Would you like to try government by the majority? If so, vote for it.

The capitalist system is an economic fraud and Teddy Roosevelt and Robert La Follette are siding in the game to keep up the monstrous swindle.

The brain and brawn and the working class is as certain to exert its power as civilization is to exist. If it fails civilization cannot endure. And all the tinsel power of the capitalist game of deception and superstition will fail to impede the mighty sweep of the workers' cause toward complete emancipation.

Business interests don't have to send lobbyists to Washington now. The lobbyists are in the seats in both houses of congress. And the shame of it all is in the fact that the workers by their votes send them there.

What have the capitalist politicians to offer the voters? Bunk and more bunk, but no principle.

The great question before the people today is the trust question. It is not only a national and an international question, but a state and local question as well. The fight all through has become the fight of the people against "Special Interests."

We have in our midst many local monopolies controlling necessities of life which are a part of the public service trusts. The trust question must be met locally as well as throughout the state and nation.

The trusts have proven that a small number of capitalists have it in their power to decide how much meat, and how much bread we shall eat; how much we shall spend for other necessities of life, such as clothing, pleasures, etc. They do this by fixing the price of everything. In short, the trusts have it in their power to not only say how we shall live, but to say how long we shall live and what sort of a coffin we shall be buried in, even if we do miss the potters' field.

The Socialist party, therefore, insists that the production of wealth shall be taken from the control of a few private owners and be placed in the hands of those who produce the wealth.

No other party advocates any change in ownership and consequently can effect no amelioration of the deplorable conditions now confronting the people.

The insurgency that has broken out in the Republican party against Cannon, Aldrich, Taft, etc., is a protest movement of the small business men to keep from being precipitated into the ranks of the workers. It is reactionary and can only postpone the real issue, and will keep the workers in the same unsettled and unsatisfactory state. The workers have been caught with chaff many times, and this is the same old bait under a new name.

The real question for the producers is not graft, political corruption, etc., but what is taken from them in surplus value, that is, the wealth they produce but do not get. This alone amounts to more than one-half the total wealth produced, or a total of some fifteen billions of dollars in the United States, and three hundred millions of dollars in West Virginia, making, as it does, a loss each year of about one thousand dollars to each worker on an average. It is to restore this colossal amount to the rightful owners, the producers, that makes the Socialists oppose all other parties. All other stealings combined do not total one-tenth this amount, and will disappear with the disappearance of the cause, the private ownership of life's necessities.

The Trust Question

The Socialists advocate home rule so that the workers may take control, own and manage all the undertakings for the benefit of the people. To get home rule we must send men to the state capital to make laws that will benefit the workers as against the shirkers.

If the voters wish a change, or the beginning of a change, they must elect Socialists to office, as no other party proposes to take the exploiters off the backs of the people.

(Written for The Herald.)
(Tune: "John Brown's Body.")

WE'RE on the march, to take the earth, we know it is our own;
We'll reap in full the harvests of the fields our hands have sown;
We'll labor all together, and our greatness will be shown,
In Solidarity.

CHORUS

All join the marching ranks of Labor,
The marching ranks, the mighty ranks of Labor,
All join the mighty hosts of Labor,
In Solidarity.

Each mother's son of earth will claim in full what he has earned.

The chaos that distracts us, into order will be turned,
And all will find the happiness, for which our hearts have yearned,
In Solidarity.

We'll bugle call our armies, that are

homeless and aloof,
We'll shout their rights to heaven, with a rise on every note,
Equal rights will fall to women, side by side with us they'll vote,
In Solidarity.

When all are forced to labor, we'll

all have time for play,
We'll all get acquainted with the earth, the while we stay,
From slavery, we'll celebrate emancipation day,
In Solidarity.

Seidel's Inauguration Speech Ready!

Mayor Seidel's Inauguration Speech may now be secured in leaflet form in any quantity desired.

From all parts of the country orders for the issue of the SOCIAL-DEMOCRATIC HERALD containing the inauguration speech are coming and that issue was soon exhausted.

Mayor Seidel's inauguration address was not a mere speech delivered on the spur of the moment. It embodies the best thought resulting from years of experience on the burning subject of municipal government in our American cities and towns.

Milwaukee's municipal problems are very similar to the problems which Socialists in other cities and towns must solve. Mayor Seidel's inauguration speech outlines these problems in their logical order and clearly points to the only possible remedy.

The leaflet, which is four pages long, will be sent in any quantity anywhere in the United States or Canada, postpaid at the following prices:

1000 $1.75, 500 $1.00, 100 20c

This will make the best possible propaganda leaflet for general distribution that is likely to be issued for months to come.

Send all orders to the Social-Democratic Publishing Co., 344 Sixth St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The Case of the Farmers

(Written for The Herald.)

PERHAPS the farmer has as many reasons, if not more, for being a Socialist as any other producer. He works longer hours, has less enjoyment, and less leisure than men of any other profession or trade, and in spite of the boasted Republican prosperity which the farmer is supposed to enjoy, a large per cent (fully 33%) of the farmers are tenants, that is—either renting their farms or holding them under a mortgage, and in the process of centralization which all industries are going through, it is inevitable that the day of the small farmer as of the small manufacturer must finally come to an end and he be reduced to the position of a tenant. Capital having monopolized nearly everything in the line of manufacture is already entering the retail trade as a means of exploitation, and already certain large railway corporations in the west are beginning to farm on a large scale, on land given to them by the government to supply their needs, and therefore, is already competing with the small farmer.

The trusts get the farmer going and coming, when he buys and when he sells. When he buys coal, sugar, harnesses, shoes, tea, coffee, tobacco, binder twine, oil, farm machinery, lumber, paint or any manufactured article, he pays tribute to those monopolies. When he sells his grain, cattle, and dairy product he pays tribute to the transportation trust, to the elevator trust, the cold storage trust and to the wolves on the board of trade, and a few men decide from week to week what the farmer shall get and what the consumer shall pay for butter, milk, etc.

Under present conditions the price which the consumer pays for bread in the cities bears no great relation to the price which the farmer gets for his wheat. When the price of wheat soars skyward, the consumer pays the price and the speculator gets the benefit with perhaps a small dole of the advance in price to the farmer. The price which the consumer pays for eggs and other produce after six months or a year in cold storage bears no relation to the price paid the farmer for that produce six months or a year before. The speculator corners the product and reaps a harvest from the farmer's toil.

The price which the farmer pays for his farm machinery and the manufactured articles which he buys bears but small relation to the wages paid the wage-worker in the city. Through the present competitive system it costs about as much to sell certain articles as it does to make them and beside the trust must realize a large profit on the article manufactured. Many of the most costly articles which the farmer buys is the product of cheap, sometimes child labor, but it is to the interest of the old party politician and capitalist to keep the farmer and city worker separate so they may flatter them both as the "noble sons of toil" and rob them both at the same time. When the farmer complains about the high prices of the manufactured articles which he buys, they tell him that the wage-worker, the unions in the city are demanding and receiving too much, that he is living in splendor and that the farmer is paying for it and when the city worker complains about the price of meat, flour, etc., he is told, that the farmer is to blame, that the farmer lives in a fine house, has an automobile, that he is to blame for the hardships that the city worker must endure. It is to the interest of the capitalist to keep the farmer and city worker from understanding each other and from voting together.

Many farmers, especially in Wisconsin, are beginning to realize that the present system of distributing their product is robbery and they are beginning to establish their own grain elevators, their own centers of exchange and distribution, to abolish the profit system and speculation in farm produce and in order to sell as direct as possible to the consumer and to thereby secure as near as possible the full product of their labor. This is Socialism as far as the selling of their product is concerned, and the farmer who favors such organization is a Socialist, in the sense that he wishes to abolish the profit of others in his labor, but he does not own the means of transportation, the railways, he is still exploited by them, and therefore the attempts on his part alone is handicapped by the limitations of his sphere of action, and even if he does succeed in getting very nearly what his product sells for, it oots him nothing if he must pay a large profit to the manufacturers and trusts on the things that he is compelled to buy, and to be logical, it should be his aim to destroy the profit system on the things that he must sell which can only be done by bringing about the COLLECTIVE OWNERSHIP by the people of the nation of the mills, mines, factories, and instruments of production, which must be done by the United Political Action of the toilers on farm and in factory by voting the SOCIALIST TICKET which is the only party that stands for such a program.

Mental Dynamite for Workers

By Silas Hood.
(Written for The Herald.)

THE only reason the members of the working class ride second class is because there isn't any third class.

Many working people take regular trips to Europe, but their place on board ship, if not in the steerage, is in the stoke-hole, before the mast, or as servants providing comforts for the capitalist class.

Wealth of the United States is estimated at one hundred and twenty five billions of dollars. How much of it have you got to divide up with the terrible Socialists?

Woman of 23, deserted by her husband, was found on the streets of New York starving the other day. A kind-hearted policeman—a member of the working class—gave her 50 cents to get something to eat, but she was too far gone to retain nourishment. She was taken to the hospital to die. Capitalists must be proud of the system they are upholding.

Seventy-two babies die in the City of New York every twenty-four hours, and according to a report made by settlement workers, 90 per cent of the deaths are due to malnutrition. In the face of such infant murder the insolent hissing Teddy presumes to continue his prattle regarding race suicide.

Why not save the babies that come into the world by insuring them proper homes in which to be born, proper food, sunshine and air?

According to the United States treasury report there are more than thirteen billions of dollars on deposit in the banks and trust companies. And yet the bureau of engraving and printing and the United States mints never turned out that much money. Finance is a great game.

Wealth of the country is not in money, stocks or bonds. If all the wealth represented in paper and coin were destroyed the nation would still have $125,000,000,000 in visible wealth.

The nation's greatest asset is the millions of the working class. Wake up, you giant, and claim your own! The earth is yours for the asking. Make your demands collectively at the ballot box.

Samuel Gompers, so says the capitalist press, intends to support the expiring capitalist system by stamping the state of Indiana for the Democrats. Your days are numbered.

A Bitter Harvest

Dr. Rapp estimates that over 60 per cent of the adult male population of this country contract gonorrhea and that 12 per cent contract syphilis. That means that out of 770,000 boys who reach maturity each year, more than 450,000 enroll themselves in the great army of the diseased. Eighty per cent of the blindness in the new born is caused by gonorrheal infection, and it is computed that 20,000 infants are killed by syphilis in France each year. We have not in this country as yet statistics on this important subject.

The brilliant blind girl, Helen Keller, in a full-page article in The Ladies' Home Journal for January, 1909, wrote under the heading "I Must Speak":

"The common cause of blindness is ophthalmia of the new-born. One pupil in every three at the institution for the blind in New York City was blinded in infancy by this disease.

"What is the cause of ophthalmia neonatorum? It is a specific germ communicated by the mother to the child at birth. Previous to the child's birth she has unconsciously received it through infection from her husband. He has contracted the infection in licentious relations before or since marriage. The cruellest link in the chain of consequences," says Dr. Prince Morrow, "is the mother's innocent agency. She is made a passive, unconscious medium of instilling into the eyes of her new-born baby a virulent poison which extinguishes his sight."

"It is part of the bitter harvest of the wild oats he has sown." This specific disease germ is carried from the red light districts of our great cities to many towns and villages, where no red light districts are known. It is a well-known fact that thousands of visitors to the cities flock to the red light districts from the west, various orders holding conventions, and individual visitors, visit these places, many of them only sight-seeing and many carrying to their homes the germs of blindness, ill health, death.—Progressive Woman.

Another Workingmen's Friend

Senator Owen of Oklahoma, who has been pictured by some so-called labor journals as "the workingmen's friend," has now been exposed as a grafter whose brain hatched the devilish scheme to rob the poor Indians under the forms of law. The man who will conspire to relieve the Indian of his holdings will not hesitate to despoil labor.

As long as labor can be deluded by "the friends of labor," just so long will labor be at the mercy of heartless piracy that knows no justice that conflicts with the right of a class of privilege.—Miners' Magazine.

"By endorsing the wage-system the wage-worker abolishes the title to private property in himself, and to work for wages is to sell on Socialism, individually or collectively."

There is no wealth but life.—Ruskin.

Sammy. Your next step will be into a capitalist government job or on the payroll of the Civic federation.

Mayor Gaynor's salary is $15,000 a year. His salary goes on while he is convalescing. The half-crazed old watchman who shot him couldn't get a wage higher than $2 a day. His wages ceased before he committed his foolish act. Shooting at the system is stupid and brutal. Vote it out of existence.

Human nature is abrupt. It is human nature to be assassins in a capitalist state of anarchy. In a co-operative state of society it will be human nature for men to be useful and good.

Milwaukee policemen will never be "fired" for refusing to protect the scum of society. Mayor Seidel made that plain in his inaugural.

Direct nominations are mob government, says Republican State Committeeman William Barnes of New York. This means that you workingmen are the mob. Barnes is a capitalist representative and when he gives advice to the useful class it behooves the workers to do the other thing.

If the capitalist system is permitted to last many more years we will need twice as many insane asylums. It would not take much more to drive the human race completely dippy.

Mrs. Frank C. Drew, wife of a San Francisco millionaire, paid $2,000 for a special car for use of her pet French bull dog, because the railroad officials refused to permit the brute to ride in the palace car. On the same trains which carried this pampered canine from New York to Alameda, Cal., working women with babies at their breasts slept on the uncomfortable seats of the day coaches. Neither Mr. and Mrs. Drew nor the dog ever did a useful thing in their lives. Good God, workingmen, will you wake up, or do you need galling guns to arouse you?

Man is the most perfect expression of evolution and yet he concerns himself more about proper breeding of hogs and cattle than he does of breeding his own kind. Oh, you capitalist barbarian mind!

Progress is not automatic. Evolution toward higher ideals ceases without human effort. If you doubt this imagine the human race asleep for twenty years, and then imagine what kind of evolution would take place. Evolution will evolve the faster if you vote right.

Man spends millions to wipe out the hog cholera, but not a dollar to wipe out the cause of preventable diseases that are annually, according to Prof. Fischer of Yale, causing the death in

Milwaukee Should Fall in Line

About the Interurban Terminal—Indianapolis Demonstrates Its Value

Public Convenience makes it Popular; Commercial Interests are Benefited. The Opportunity to Spread Out and Avoid Congestion is Enhanced

"ITH our modern civilization the railroad has practically replaced the high-ways and the railway station, in its function at least, has practically replaced the gate."

The development of our city practical—and incidentally the city beautiful—is dependent upon an efficient system of rails, which constitutes the frame work on which our city is dependent, if we are to promote health, economy and efficiency.

"Keep off the grass" signs prove the inefficiency in laying walks. Where walks are made natural and convenient such signs are never called for. Likewise "slum districts" are the sure indication of bad city planning and inadequate transportation facilities. The housing problem and all its from congestion are dependent upon transportation facilities for solution, and in line with this one dominant feature of our civic planning it is assuring to note the success already attained in Indianapolis, where the situation is strikingly similar to the tentative plans now under way in Milwaukee.

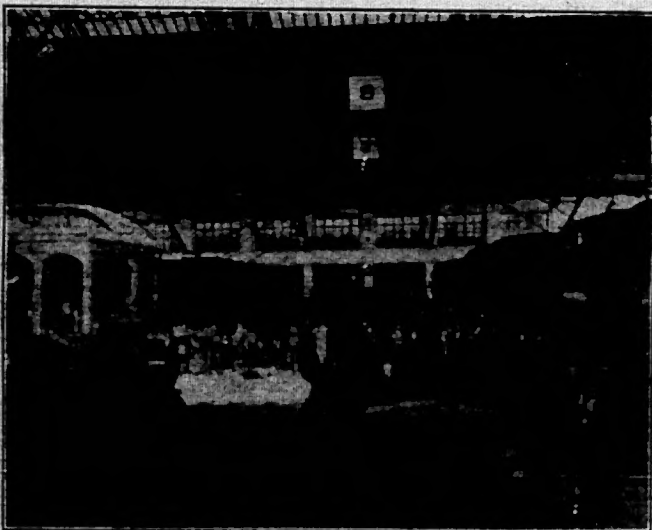

Looking west to interurban depot and capitol building, Indianapolis, Ind.

The capitol building and the large law authorizing such a terminal station face each other over a wide street of four blocks. The terminal which is for Indianapolis what our "terminal act" is for Milwaukee.

The great advantage to the public is the effective co-ordination of all the interurban lines into one system. This 240,000 to more than 500,000. The merchants are all loud in their praise of the enterprise, and what may surprise some, the country store-keeper has been benefited. He gets his supplies so promptly that he carries but small stock and has become virtually an agent of the city dealer, and is doing business with less waste than ever before. But the greatest benefit is in making possible for more people to move further out to check the growth of tenement houses and increase the number of privately owned garden patches. Of course, many of the people are like caged birds, who don't know enough to leave their cage when the door is open. Agricultural schools will bring them back to mother earth, now that it is becoming practicable.

Misunderstanding and Prejudice

PUBLIC SENTIMENT toward a public utility company may be poisoned to a great extent by prejudice.

This prejudice is of different degrees. It varies from mere suspicion and doubt to positive condemnation and active hostility.

Such a state of public feeling grows out of MISUNDERSTANDING. Other influences keep it alive and add to its growth, but so far as the general Public is concerned its chief element is misunderstanding.

The prejudice of a great majority of the People is neither clearly defined nor firmly fixed. It is more a habit than an expression of real emotion. It is a result of influence and force of example rather than experience and reasoning.

The great body of the Public is led easily into distrust and suspicion of a public utility company. The reason for this is that THE PEOPLE DO NOT UNDERSTAND THE COMPANY'S SIDE OF THE CASE.

The Public is not altogether to blame for this. Neither is the Company. Perhaps each is responsible in some degree. Possibly the Public is too readily inclined to be unfair in its judgment of the Company. It may be, too, that the Company has not made sufficient effort to inform the Public as to its business.

The most aggressive opposition to a public utility company can be traced, nearly always, to motives that are purely selfish.

One of the greatest difficulties with which the Company has had to contend, in its efforts toward progress, is misinterpretation of its motives and its intentions. When a Citizen, or even a public officer, attempts to take part in the settlement of a problem of public service, without first having studied carefully the question to be decided, he can only add to the confusion of ideas and make the situation more difficult.

To misunderstanding and self-interest may be charged many obstacles that have retarded the Company in building up its service. Among these are unreasonable and impracticable demands on the part of public officers or other persons who have in mind only certain portions or certain features of the service.

The company must consider any proposed change in the light of its effect upon the service as a whole, and in its relation to all of the People as a community. For the sake of justice, the Company must oppose any plan that would favor any certain locality or any certain class of the People at the expense of the general service.

Campaign Fund

The wheels of the campaign are moving too slowly to suit the organization department. This is mostly due to lack of funds.

We even had to borrow money for postage. Now is when we need money to get things started. Once started the campaign will go ahead of its own momentum. HURRY.

Better Street Lighting

Ald. Rehfeld (S.-D.) of the council lighting committee has a plan, which he will submit to the common council calling for additional illumination for the down-town streets. The proposition is to have the merchants pay for the "cluster" lights down-town up to midnight; and when they are extinguished at midnight to allow the top light of the cluster to burn until morning at the expense of the city.

Was a Big Primary Vote!

Returns by counties for the primary vote are beginning to come in, and they make a very good showing indeed.

Racine county gives 374, and had in 1908 regular election for governor 781. Eau Claire county sends in 134, as against 157 in 1908. Sheboygan county gives 396, and had 681 in 1908.

Wisconsin State Organization

Winfield R. Gaylord, 344 Fifth St., Milwaukee, Wis., state organizer, to whom news and other matters of this department should be sent.

Organization Department

Returns from the primary election are not at all complete as yet, but from what we have received, we should not be surprised to learn that the vote for our party in the primary election equalled the total vote for governor on our ticket two years ago.

Here are a few samples taken from our correspondence:

Place	Primary vote 1910	Gov. vote 1908
Camp Douglas	10	0
Kendall	3	1
Elroy	36	9
Enterprise, Oneida Co.	8	10
Sheopke, Oneida Co.	11	5
Doylestown	9	2
Cashlon	9	10
Appleton	90	78
West Bend	30	16
Polk	3	5
Schlesinger	10	10
Hartford	9	24
Germantown	14	4
Sturgeon Bay	26	29

We shall try to get an authoritative report from the secretary of state by the next issue of the paper.

Everything points to the fulfillment of the prophecy of Mark Hanna for the state of Wisconsin. You will recall that he said the time would soon be at hand when the fight would be between the Socialist party and the Republican party. With the death of the Democratic party in the primary election this year, the Social-Democratic party steps into the arena as the only opposition party in the state of Wisconsin. This is Social-Democratic year.

Jacobs

The September dates of our candidate for governor are practically all made. Reports begin to come in from the meetings, and show that the comrades have been making good with their sale of the subscription cards. Some of the locals that have arranged for the October dates have already sold their cards and are calling for more.

Fond du Lac sold out all the cards for the September date and sent in for another batch for an October date.

Korngold

Comrade Ralph Korngold is not unknown in Wisconsin, and the comrades are responding right well to the call for his dates. We have sent out a circular letter, outlining his tour but call attention to the fact that he will not be able to make all the dates on the suggested list. Those locals wanting Comrade Korngold are asked to send in their requests QUICK, as we shall soon be closing up the route. Here are his dates for the first few days: Sept. 16, Beloit; 17, Janesville; 18, Edgerton; 19, Fort Atkinson; 20, Jefferson; 21, Brodhead; 22, Monticello; 23, Madison; 24, Baraboo; 25, open date; 26, Elroy.

Ameringer

Comrade Ameringer's September dates have been cancelled for this state, owing to special demand for his time in Oklahoma. We greatly regret this, as it may leave us short of speakers. But we shall be all the more ready for him when he does come. This will practically cut the available dates outside of Milwaukee county in two, and locals wanting Ameringer dates will need to speak up.

Minkley

We shall have our old friend back again in October, and over a week of his time is already spoken for in Washington county and in Oshkosh.

Well, here's better luck next time! Was Dr. Rucker "jotted?" From the beginning, we mean. There are some things about the case that look strange.

Why did the district attorney have to go to the papers to explain his action? Was his conscience uneasy?

Indications are that dirty politics will be the kind much resorted to in this fall's campaign. And the reformers have been purifying politics, you know!

We notice that Judge John Gregory has not yet given out a justification of himself. Well, there's yet time! Perhaps he might make it to the Bar association.

Portugal is the last nation to expel the Jesuits. They have been warned not to set foot on the soil of the country again. Probably some of them

More Snide Work! A New Bridge at Lake Park May Collapse—A Day Off a Week for Zoo Laborers

Our daily papers did not publish a report of the proceedings at the last meeting of the park board, and yet the said meeting was of some importance to the city. One of the many grafts of the old parties' administrations was taken to the daylight by the only Social-Democratic commissioner. He presented a resolution which speaks for itself:

WHEREAS, Figures have been discovered in many places in the cement foot-bridge spanning the ravine at Lake park; and

WHEREAS, Said bridge was constructed of very poor material; and

WHEREAS, The said bridge is menacing the public safety and in danger of collapse; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the services of an expert be secured to examine the said bridge as soon as possible, and report at the earliest possible date to the park board.

The motion of Commissioner A. F. Kowalski to place a bronze tablet to cost not more than $40, on the Indian mound at Lake park, was adopted.

The same commissioner's motion that all hose valves in parks shall be placed level with the ground, instead of being allowed to project above, has been adopted.

Also the following:

Park laborers will be discharged in rotation as the winter season approaches, and not at the discretion of the foremen.

The following resolution caused a long debate:

RESOLVED, That the board of park commissioners grant the Zoological Garden employees at Washington park of the city of Milwaukee, one day off every week.

RESOLVED, That one more man be employed at the Zoological garden to take the place of six employees having one day off each week; further:

RESOLVED, That this resolution be put in force as soon as possible after its passage.

The commissioners were ready to adopt this resolution, but with addition that the wages will be cut at the same time, which the author of the resolution opposed. The same has been referred to the committee on the Zoo to report recommendations at the next meeting.

The park board recommends to the city council the adoption of the plan of the civic center proposed by the Metropolitan park commission.

on the Social-Democrats." If that was the aim it has proved a boom-erang, for although an appointee of a Social-Democratic mayor, Dr. Rucker is a Republican.

He has never claimed to be a Socialist and has never become a member of the party or indicated any desire to join. He was appointed solely because of his knowledge and ability as an expert in sanitation.

It is learned that Miss Hasdorff first made a demand on the doctor for a money settlement, but that while this effort of hers to force such a settlement was pending, Dist. Atty. McGee got hold of the case, without her lawyers knowing anything about it, and ignoring the traditions of the law in such cases, forced it into publicity. Officials about the courts say this action of the district attorney is not only unusual, but practically unprecedented, and he and Judge Gregory are being sharply criticised.

The first knowledge the public received was one shock that a man of such high standing should be involved in such a serious charge. But the moment the identity of the complainant became established in the public mind the case took on a somewhat different color.

The woman was found to have a court and insanity record. She has been in the detention ward in Emergency hospital and in the insane asylum at Wauwatosa. Had been in trouble in other cities, and had been locked up at different police stations in Milwaukee.

The report of the alienist who examined the woman when she was committed to the insane asylum characterizes her as erratic, nervous, inclined to have sleepless nights, to worry her friends by continually calling them on the telephone, and to be unreliable in her statements.

It appears that she had repeatedly made charges against various Milwaukeeans, even including Chief Janssen and John I. Beggs, none of which people believe, and several doctors have put her out of their offices because of her conduct.

Not long ago Miss Hasdorff went to a certain lawyer and asked to have suit brought against Messrs. Hackett and his son, but the lawyer refused to have anything to do with her.

Last September she went to a law firm on Grand avenue and wanted action taken against John I. Beggs. She was refused.

These are two out of many incidents.

When the doctor appeared in court, his attorneys were flooded with offers to aid the accused. Between forty and fifty professional and business men volunteered to testify against the woman, many of them saying that they had been threatened with the same experience at her hands.

The sanity issue is likely to play a large part in the trial of the case and the court records and testimony of those who have known the woman, together with that of doctors and lawyers in large number, said to have been approached by the woman, probably will be used in the defense.

Miss Hasdorff appears to enjoy the notoriety of the case, and when seen Wednesday afternoon being driven along Oneida street in a touring car with members of the district attorney's office, was sitting proudly erect with a smile on her face. She is about 35 years of age.

Oh, These Politicians!

At the Shubert theater Wednesday evening a Yiddish play was presented. The occasion was fastened on by the politicians, and gives an idea of how that scaly gentry bid for votes. For instance, W. J. Cary had a full page with his picture, and here's the astonishing stuff on the page, which we have had translated from the Yiddish:

Jews! Jews!

Your Friend: a Friend of the Jews is Cong. Wm. J. Cary, Republican Candidate of the 4th District.

Cary voted always with Congressmen Sabbath of Chicago, who fights always for the Jewish rights. Cary says he does not care from what country the Jews come. He says: "The Jews are a nation and he believe in Zionism." CARY says: "The Jews are the best citizens of this country."

Cary stands for the political principles of Roosevelt.

Now, do not forget to vote for Wm. J. Cary, the Jews' friend.

Smudgy Politics

Just on the eve of the primaries a politician named Linclarger, who had made quite a splurge as a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress, but in a way also to nicely advertise some real estate he wanted to unload at an advantage, suddenly announced his withdrawal from the race in favor of the sometimes sober Cary. It smelled strongly of a frame-up from the first. A political trick of a low sort to help hold the field for Cary.

Now comes a second apparent deal of the same sort. Gerhard Aussem campaigned for the legislative nomination on the Democratic ticket in the Fifteenth Assembly district (Twenty-first ward and the north towns) and was successful in the primaries. Immediately afterward he comes out in a newspaper statement to the effect that he expects to retire from the race IN FAVOR OF THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE!

This is more flagrant than the other, for here a man tries to turn the voters of one party over to the candidate of an opposing party, to sell them out, in fact, using the broad sense of that word as defined by Webster.

Aussem's action has created no little feeling in his party and they are saying some pretty hard things about him and about shady political deals in general.

Oh, these politicians! No wonder the people are in revolt in the old parties.

Berger Welcome Meeting
Members of the Social-Democratic party and sympathizers will gather in Freie Gemeinde hall, Saturday, Sept. 24. The object of this meeting is threefold—to welcome Comrade Victor L. Berger on his return from Copenhagen, to hear his report of the international Socialist congress, and to gather the comrades together as a preliminary to the opening campaign. It will be a time for learning much about the international movement and for rallying our own forces preparatory to the big battle before us. Do not forget the place, Freie Gemeinde hall, not the time, Saturday, Sept. 24, at 8 p. m.

The United Socialist Singing societies will take part in the program and render appropriate selections. Mayor Seidel will preside.
